

Invitation to Bid to Host the 21st International Conference on Medical Physics in 2016-2017

1. Introduction

These conferences are in addition to the World Congresses on Medical Physics and Biomedical Engineering (WCMPBEs) and take place approximately midway between WCMPBEs. The objectives of these additional conferences include the development of medical physics, strengthening of links amongst regional medical physicists and the promotion of the medical physics profession in regions or countries where a large World Congress is not feasible. It is also hoped that some will generate additional income for IOMP to enable it to expand its work, particularly in developing countries. The intention is that the conferences will rotate around the world.

IOMP does not wish to be unduly restrictive in laying down conditions and innovative proposals are welcome. Conferences should reflect the priorities and needs, in relation to medical physics, of the region in which they are located.

2. Invitation to Bid

Any adhering national adhering body (national organisation) in good standing, or Regional Group (normally in association with one or more national organisations) or any combination of these organisations, are invited to bid to host the 21st International Conference on Medical Physics (ICMP) to be held in 2016-2017.

3. Selection Criteria

The following are in no specific order and the relative weight placed on each will be a matter for those participating in the selection procedure.

- Scientific standard. Must be of international standard, which includes the scientific committee having international stature.
- Promotion of the development of medical physics in the region and how it meets the needs and priorities of the region.
- Balance between science, educational, training and professional matters. There is no pre-judgement as to the relative balance of these items.
- Exhibition size, standard and scope.

- Rotation of conference. How the location fits the aim that these conferences should rotate around the world.
- Plans for regional and international promotion of the conference
- Finance and risk. Viability, risk, level of registration fees and likely profit to IOMP.
- Support for developing country participation.
- Date. Clashes with other relevant international meetings and impact on the following World Congress.
- Location, accommodation (conference and hotel) and organisational arrangements.

There is no minimum size but overall the conference must be of a size and standard to warrant its designation as an IOMP International Conference.

Note: Voting

Each voting Council member will record on the voting paper his /her order of preference (1, 2, 3 etc.). An outright majority (more than 50%of votes cast) is required to identify the winner. If ‘first preference’ votes do not identify a winner then the bid with the least votes is eliminated and the ‘second preference’ votes, of those whose ‘first preference’ were for the eliminated bid, are distributed between the remaining bids. This procedure is repeated until an outright majority is achieved. In the event of an equal number of votes the President has a casting vote.
