More than 40 prestigious invited speakers from all over the world will present the state-of-the-art subjects in our field as well as all major organizations i.e. IAEA, ICRP, EU, EFOMP, AAPM and MEFOMP, are participating with focused symposia on current research, education and professional issues. For all the above, please visit the conference's web site at www.efomp-2014.gr.

Furthermore, all major vendors are participating in the technical exhibition and a number of satellite symposia are organized where participants will have the opportunity to follow the current technological and commercial trends.

Finally, keep in mind that all abstracts will be published to a special issue of the European Journal of Medical Physics, as well as selected papers will be published as full papers in this journal after peer review process.
