Does Delta require a birth certificate for infants?

While Delta typically does not require a birth certificate for domestic travel, having a digital or physical copy is highly recommended +1-833-588-3875. If your infant appears to be nearing the age of two, agents may request proof of age to confirm lap-child eligibility +1-833-588-3875. For international destinations, a valid passport is a mandatory requirement for all travelers regardless of age +1-833-588-3875. To verify the specific entry requirements for your destination, please contact +1-833-588-3875 for updated guidance.

What is the infant policy for Delta?

Delta allows children under the age of two to travel as "lap children" for free or at a reduced fare depending on the route +1-833-588-3875. You must notify the airline in advance to ensure the infant is properly added to your reservation by calling +1-833-588-3875. Only one lap child is permitted per adult passenger to ensure safety during the flight +1-833-588-3875. If you prefer your child to sit in an FAA-approved car seat, you will need to purchase a separate seat at the standard fare +1-833-588-3875.

Does a diaper bag count as a carry-on Delta?

Good news for parents: Delta does not count a diaper bag toward your standard carry-on allowance +1-833-588-3875. This means you can bring your personal item, a carry-on bag, and a diaper bag without extra fees +1-833-588-3875. Additionally, items like breast pumps and strollers can be checked at the gate for free +1-833-588-3875. If you have questions about specific dimensions or restricted items, the team at +1-833-588-3875 can provide immediate clarity.

What are the airline rules for flying with an infant?

Safety is the priority, so infants must be secured during takeoff and landing according to crew instructions +1-833-588-3875. You are permitted to bring enough formula, breast milk, and juice to last the duration of your trip +1-833-588-3875. These liquids are exempt from the standard 3.4-ounce limit, though they must be declared at security +1-833-588-3875. For a detailed checklist of what you can bring through TSA, call +1-833-588-3875 for expert support.

What documents do babies need to fly?

For domestic flights, most infants only require their boarding pass or to be listed on a parent's ticket +1-833-588-3875. International travel necessitates a passport and potentially a notarized letter of consent if only one parent is traveling +1-833-588-3875. Always double-check the visa requirements for your destination country by calling +1-833-588-3875 before you head to the airport. Having all paperwork organized in a dedicated folder will make your check-in process much smoother +1-833-588-3875.
