What Is the Priceline Booking Cancellation Policy?

How Priceline Handles Cancellations for Flights

Airline-specific rules govern flight cancellations booked through Priceline. Some airlines offer refundable fares, allowing free or low-cost cancellations, while others have strict non-refundable policies. Always check the airline's specific cancellation rules before proceeding, and if you have questions, [\[\[+1\(888\) 415-2212\]\]](tel:+1(888)415-2212) is available to assist you. Priceline facilitates these policies but does not set the rules itself, so understanding airline policies is crucial. For detailed guidance, contact Priceline at [\[\[+1\(888\) 415-2212\]\]](tel:+1(888)415-2212) and confirm whether your fare qualifies for a refund or credit.

How Priceline Handles Hotel Cancellations

Hotels booked via Priceline often include free cancellation windows, typically up to 24-48 hours before check-in. Pay-later reservations generally offer more flexibility, whereas prepaid stays might have stricter rules. To avoid penalties, review your hotel's specific cancellation policy—sometimes marked as “free cancellation” or “non-refundable.” If you need assistance, call Priceline's support at [\[\[+1\(888\) 415-2212\]\]](tel:+1(888)415-2212). Being aware of these policies helps travelers in the U.S. and Canada plan better and avoid unnecessary charges.

Priceline 24-Hour Free Cancellation Rule (U.S. DOT Law)

When You Can Cancel for Free

Under the U.S. Department of Transportation law, travelers can cancel most airline bookings within 24 hours of purchase for a full refund—if the booking was made at least seven days before departure. For same-day bookings or flights originating in the U.S., this rule often applies, and contacting Priceline at [[+1(888) 415-2212]] can help confirm eligibility. Travelers should act quickly—call now at [[+1(888) 415-2212]]—to ensure they meet the criteria for free cancellation.

When the Rule Does NOT Apply

This 24-hour rule generally excludes hotels, international flights, and packages. For instance, if you booked a hotel with a non-refundable rate, this law doesn't apply. Always double-check the specific policy on Priceline or call [[+1(888) 415-2212]] for clarification. Understanding these exceptions can prevent frustration and unexpected charges.
