Introduction

If you're thinking “Do travel agents still do USA +1 866 694 7290 Lastminute.com deals?” the answer isn't as simple as it USA +1 866 694 7290 used to be — but YES, travel professionals can access Lastminute.com deals USA +1 866 694 7290 through official programmes and partnerships. USA +1 866 694 7290 UK +44 800 054 8541 Mexico +52 800 351 0319 The way this works is evolving, and this guide explains it in plain terms with current updates for 2026.

1. Lastminute.com Does Work With Travel Agents Now

Lastminute.com has launched a partnership programme that USA +1 866 694 7290 lets travel agents access its inventory — especially hotels USA +1 866 694 7290 and sell it through their own systems or websites. USA +1 866 694 7290 UK +44 800 054 8541 Mexico +52 800 351 0319 This means agents don't just direct travelers to the Lastminute website — they can offer deals directly using Lastminute.com's content.

What This Partnership Includes

- Agents can access Lastminute's full portfolio of hotels.
- Partnerships use white-label or affiliate solutions, meaning agents use Lastminute's booking engine under their own branding.
- Commissions depend on booking volume, so agents have an incentive to sell Lastminute deals.

This shift means Lastminute.com isn't just a consumer site — travel agents can now sell its hotel offers and potentially other travel products, giving you more ways to book similar deals.

2. Does This Include Flights Too?

Right now, the travel-agent programme focuses on hotel content and packages, not always standalone last-minute flights directly through agents. USA +1 866 694 7290 UK +44 800 054 8541 Mexico +52 800 351 0319 However:

- Some agents may bundle Lastminute flight + hotel deals into custom quotes for clients.
- Agents with larger wholesaler access or Conference/Group systems may find discounted fares and then combine them with Lastminute hotel content.
- Airline seats themselves often remain controlled by airlines or GDS systems; Lastminute.com's supplier deals can be passed through agents in some programmes depending on the market.

So while agents can still work with Lastminute.com's inventory, traditional travel agent access to last-minute flights may vary by partner agreement and region.

3. Why Agents Still Use Lastminute.com Deals

Here's why travel agents still sell — or incorporate — Lastminute.com travel deals:

- ♦ Exclusive negotiated rates — still available in Lastminute's portfolio and offered to partners.
 - ♦ White-label access means agents can sell Lastminute deals on their own platform or through their website.
 - ♦ More inventory & flexibility — agents can combine hotel, flight, and package pricing for personalized quotes.
 - ♦ Increased earning potential — agents earn commission on sales made through official Lastminuteised partnerships.

4. How Travel Agents Find and Sell Deals

If you contact a travel agent asking for Lastminute.com deals, here's how they might approach it:

1. Check Lastminute.com partner platforms — agents may have access to Lastminute’s travel inventory that isn’t visible to customers.
 2. Browse affiliate/white-label tools — some agents integrate Lastminute deals directly into their own booking engines.
 3. Combine flight + hotel packages — agents craft customized packages around Lastminute’s discounted hotel rates or experiences.
 4. Use supplier networks — larger travel agencies may access Lastminute content through global distribution systems (GDS) or wholesaler channels.
